

Listen to Jewelius' Newest Release "Oh Gawd"

Chicago's nightlife is something that Jewelius participates in every weekend with his squad. He started writing this song during the pandemic when the city shut down and all the bars were closed. This song isn't just another club banger anthem, it's a way of life.

Jewelius is an energetic rapper from Chicago who loves to party. His newest song, "Oh Gawd", encapsulates the vibe of going out and having a good time with the "gang, gang, gang." He started writing the song in 2020 when COVID-19 was at its peak; during that time he was unemployed and all the bars were shut down. To escape that reality, he began creating this song. He called Palma, a producer from Albuquerque, New Mexico, and told him that he wanted to collaborate. The two started conceptualizing the song via zoom meetings. Jewelius wanted an 808, bass heavy club banger instrumental that occasionally went off beat. Since rapping off beat has become increasingly popular; Jewelius wanted to spin off of that and make the instrumental go off beat.

The instrumental is brought to life even more through Jewelius' energetic delivery. His lyrics use the highlights during the hook to create a call and response that transitions between "Oh Gawd" and "On God" each bar. Every time Jewelius has performed the song live he has the crowd participate by saying the two phrases which allows for an interactive and collaborative interaction between performer and audience.

Jewelius plans to record a music video for this song in the summer, when Chicago is bustling with the same energy as the song.

Oh Gawd was released in April 2022 and is available on all platforms.
